Egg freezing gives women peace of mind in the present, and their best chance to have biological children in the future. As the Egg Freezing Coordinator at Main Line Fertility, Bridget has educated and supported hundreds of women. She uniquely understands elective fertility preservation from the perspective of both a fertility nurse and patient - she froze her own eggs at the age of 27 due to PCOS. Bridget says she is forever grateful she made the decision to take control of her fertility. It is her passion to help other women take control of theirs.
